

EXHIBIT W

SFGATE

September 5 at 10:06 AM · 🌐

...

Starting this summer, San Francisco International Airport officials began documenting the number of passengers who have confused it with San Francisco Bay Oakland International Airport.

🔗: <https://trib.al/qTvB6OB>

OAK flyers are mistakenly going to SFO
following airport rebrand

👍👎👏 2.2K

853 comments 254 shares

👍 Like

💬 Comment

🔗 Share

Shelly O'Connell

Of course they are!! I was confused and I've lived here all my life!

...

1w Like Reply

2

Saeeda Nazneen

This is very confusing. I was trying to look for flights and Google was popping out flights from SFO and Oakland but I couldn't really tell the difference. Thank God, I looked closely before booking. For someone not from the Bay Area, they can easily screw I
It up when booking. This name change was so unnecessary!!!

...

6d Like Reply

Yvette Kay

I was at the Oakland Airport 2 days ago and was confused by the name too. 😞😞

...

1w Like Reply

12

Carolyn Gwynn, Luxury Real Estate · Follow

Yesterday my sister left Sonoma and asked Siri for directions to the San Francisco airport and it started taking her to Oakland. Can you imagine the number of tourists that will have no idea they are going to the wrong airport? Congratulations Oakland another well thought out decision in a series of well thought out decisions over the last 20 years. Not

•

1w Like Reply

6